ARMS EMBARGO ADVOCATES TO ASK NEW TEST

Think Yesterday's Trouncing On Tobey Proposal Inconclusive

ACTION LIKELY SOON

Repeal Sponsors See Complete Victory By End Of Next Week

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11.—(AP)—Arms embargo advocates, overwhelmed in the initial vote of the senate neutrality battle, carried their fight today toward a direct test on [illegible] the embargo repeal clause.

Senator Clark, Democrat, Missouri, who held the floor for a three-hour speech against the administration measure, said that he would propose deletion of the repeal section before a final vote is reached in the next week or two.

"That would be a clear test, and he would get substantially more votes on it than were cast on the Tobey motion," he said.

Clark referred to yesterday's 65 to 26 ballot against the proposal of Senator Tobey, Republican, New Hampshire, to lay aside the embargo issue until other sections of the bill embracing restrictions on American shipping were approved.

Tobey was supported by only 14 other Republicans, nine Democrats, one Farmer-Laborite and one Progressive. Seven Republicans joined 57 Democrats and Senator Norris, Independent, Nebraska, to defeat the motion.

Clark and other opponents of embargo repeal contended that the vote was not indicative of embargo sentiment.

Chairman Pittman, Democrat, Nevada, of the foreign relations committee, and Democratic Leader Barkley on the other hand asserted that the vote was [illegible] test of strength but that the [illegible] would pick up two or three more votes on final passage. Both predicted complete victory before the end of next week.

Senator Johnson, Republican, California, an opposition leader, said that a test might come first, not on the Clark move to strike out the repeal clause, but on a motion to require "cash on the barrel head" for all belligerent purchases in this country. The pending bill would permit 90-day credits.

"I don't think there will be much hope for us if we get beaten on that," the Californian added.

Senator Johnson, Democrat, Colorado, meanwhile indicated he would defer indefinitely his proposal that the senate take three-day recesses in the hope that some international peace move might prove successful.

CHEST RATING GROUP ACTIVE

Big Donors Of Last Year Rated At Session Of Committee

At a four-hour session Tuesday night at headquarters of the Twin City Community Chest in Hotel Virginia, the big gifts rating committee of the second annual campaign organization rated donors who fell within the big gifts classification last year.

Another meeting will be held by the committee next week to consider adding other firms and individuals to the big gifts list.

The Chest campaign is scheduled to start October 23 and extend through November 4.

In canvassing last year's list of large donors, the committee give individual consideration to each firm and person listed. It is endeavoring to the utmost to set a fair rating for each donor.

The committee does not want any firm or individual to give more than a fair amount. But on the other hand, it does not want any firm or individual to give less than a fair amount.

The committee, in its session Tuesday night, felt that some donations made last year were not commensurate with the donors' financial capability. It is the hope of the committee, which is composed of a representative group of Monroe and West Monroe civic leaders, that this year every large donor will contribute in accordance with his means—in other words, donate the amount he is called upon to give.

The committee wants everyone to be proud to give and to give sums of which they can be proud. Due to the fact that new agencies have become affiliated with the Chest and that agencies already affiliated have, in a number of instances, expanded their character-building and welfare activities, virtually all ratings have been increased.

The committee is composed of H. K. Touchstone, chairman, Ben Downing, John M. Breard, Sam Smith, Courtney Oliver, Sam Davis, Wheeler Mitchell, H. A. McDonald, E. Jack Selig, Sr., Abe Blumenthal, Joe Marx, Sr., J. G. Hicks, C. Stillman, H. B. Cannon, T. C. Drew and W. R. Hatchell.

GALLOGLY SURRENDERS IN TEXAS

A state-wide three-day search for Richard Gallogly, wealthy young Atlanta life termer, came to a close when the escaped Georgia fugitive gave himself up in Dallas, Tex., to Sheriff Smoot Schmid (right), shown with Gallogly (left) shortly after the latter's surrender. The 29-year-old son of a prominent Atlanta family pleaded guilty to a murder charge ten years ago.

GALLOGLY SAYS 'TEXAS JUSTICE' WILL FREE HIM

Wealthy Georgia Life-Termer Hopes To Escape Extradition

DALLAS, Oct. 11.—(AP)—Bound by bars again, Richard Gallogly, wealthy fugitive Georgia life-termer, today held faith in "Texas justice" and insisted he would never be extradited back to a state wanting him to continue payment on a sentence for murder.

The 29-year-old member of a prominent Georgia family surrendered yesterday to Sheriff Smoot Schmid and said he deliberately threaded his way to Dallas, where "there are real men who will understand my case."

The almost handsome, well-dressed fugitive had served 10 years of a life sentence imposed after he pleaded guilty as an accessory to the slaying of an Atlanta drug store clerk.

Five days ago, while being transferred from an Atlanta hospital to Reidsville state prison, Gallogly escaped with his beautiful, blonde wife of a few months.

Two guards were in the front of the automobile; Gallogly, his wife and mother in the rear seat. Gallogly said he used a piece of wood he had found in his hospital room closet to jab into the back of one of the guards.

His wife accompanied him "only because I had fever and she feared for my health." Officers had not located her. Gallogly last saw her on a street corner as he left "to visit an attorney and surrender."

The pale former Oglethorpe university student said his mother pleaded with him not to escape, but he replied it was his "only hope for justice"—flight to another state.

The Georgian told Sheriff Schmid he had made a leisurely four-day trip

THREE KILLED AND 62 HURT IN PLUNGE

WAR, W. Va., Oct. 11.—(AP)—A disabled school bus careened from a highway and plunged down a 75-foot embankment today, killing three students and injuring 62 other persons, some critically.

The big, 70-passenger machine, carrying 64 students and the driver to Big Creek High school here, fell on the Norfolk and Western railway tracks and smashed to bits.

The dead were identified as Maxine Beavers of Bartley, 18-year-old high school senior, crushed under the wreckage; Lucille Mullins of Raysal, who died in Stevens clinic at Welch, and seventeen-year-old Ernest Wood of Bartley, who succumbed in Grace hospital at Welch.

Physicians held little hope for several others who were badly hurt.

The accident occurred at 8 a.m., eastern standard time, on a hill a half-mile from the school, which draws students from a dozen nearby mining villages.

The three hospitals at Welch, in the heart of the rich southwestern West Virginia coal fields, were jammed with screaming and frightened injured. Physicians were called from a half-dozen mine communities to aid overtaxed hospital staffs. The injured were rushed to the hospitals in automobiles, trucks and ambulances.

DELAY HEARING ON INJUNCTION

Attorneys For Both Sides Ask Postponement Of Sanatorium Case

By consent of attorneys for both sides, the hearing on the petition of four Ouachita parish taxpayers who are seeking to obtain an injunction restraining the levying, collecting or receiving of benefits from the one-mill special tax voted here last February for the G. B. Cooley Tuberculosis sanatorium was extended until 10 a.m. Tuesday. The hearing was scheduled for 10 o'clock this morning before Judge David I. Garrett in district court.

More time to prepare their cases was requested by both sides of the injunction hearing.

The plaintiffs in the petition, J. L. Evans, M. F. Halley, Mrs. Tracey Goodwin and H. T. Goodwin, have asked that Mrs. Joe Hanna, tax assessor, be restrained from levying the special tax, that Sheriff Milton Coverdale be restrained from collecting the tax, and that the Ouachita Parish Tuberculosis association, Inc., be prohibited from receiving any taxes levied or collected under the special tax ordinance.

G. B. Cooley, president of the Ouachita Parish Tuberculosis association, Inc., for whom the sanatorium was named, and Sheriff Coverdale and Mrs. Hanna were summoned to appear in court this morning to show cause, if any, why a preliminary restraining order should not be issued.

The tax, scheduled to run for ten years, was voted for the purpose of building, equipping and maintaining the sanatorium, but the petitioners claim that "regardless of the declared purpose, the real purpose of imposing the tax is to aid, assist and maintain a private corporation."

The "private corporation" was named as the Ouachita Parish Tuberculosis association, Inc.

COURT TERM DELAYED

SHREVEPORT, La., Oct. 11.—(AP)—The regular term of the federal court scheduled to begin here Monday has been postponed, it was announced at the federal clerk's office today. The postponement was made necessary because of the heavy docket at the Monroe division, it was stated.

JURY REFUSES TO VOTE FUNDS FOR AIR FIELD

Selman Project Loses 7-6; Liquor Ordinance Extended

By a vote of 7 to 6, the Ouachita parish police jury this morning refused to authorize purchase of 140 acres of land to extend and improve Selman field so that the larger mail and passenger planes may land here.

After considerable debate, in which a number of prominent businessmen of the city appeared to urge the purchase, the jury voted down the motion of Juror A. F. Montgomery that the land be bought. It was proposed to acquire 140 acres at a price not to exceed $250 per acre, the amount to be paid in equal payments over a period of ten years.

The importance of modern air transportation was stressed by several members of the airport committee of the Chamber of Commerce, as well as others not included on the committee, which attended the meeting in its entirety. Dean C. C. Colvert of Northeast Junior college told of plans to establish an air school at the college and Fred F. Millsaps, president of the Ouachita National bank, stressed the importance of national defense. Sig Masur, president of The Palace, told of the value of air transportation to the merchants.

Opponents argued that the Delta Air corporation should not continue the beneficiary of "gifts" from the parish but Travis Oliver, president of Delta, countered with the statement that the company "can make just as much money, if not more, by flying over Monroe." He added that several cities have sought to persuade Delta to transfer its headquarters from Monroe. He pointed out that it would be even less expensive to fly direct from Jackson to Shreveport without the stop here.

Vigorously opposing the proposal were Jurors Sandel Berry and W. J.

WAR ACTIVITY HAMPERED BY BAD WEATHER

RUSSIA GAINS MORE

Adds Lithuania To Chain Of Baltic States Under Control

HELSINKI, Oct. 11.—(AP)—A civilian exodus from Helsinki and Viipuri was in full swing today as the Finns anxiously awaited developments in Moscow, where a delegation headed by former Premier Dr. Juho Kusti Paasikivi arrived for "political and economic" talks with Soviet leaders.

This followed increased military activity by Finland and an experimental blackout of this capital city last night.

Responsible Finnish sources said a firm refusal would be the nation's answer to any Soviet Russian request for military and economic concessions such as Russia obtained recently from Estonia, Latvia and Lithuania.

With many women and children having already left the city, in response to a radio appeal yesterday by Interior Minister Urho Kekkonen, approximately 129,000 persons have signified their readiness to leave. Of these, 64,000 were children under 16, their nurses or guardians, and adult invalids.

PARIS, Oct. 11.—(AP)—Bad weather hampered operations on the western front today as the French general staff announced that fresh attacks by "strong enemy patrols" had been repulsed south of Saarbruecken and Pirmasens during the night.

The attacks apparently were a continuation of thrusts which the Germans launched Sunday on a 35-mile front east of the Moselle river.

Reference to fighting in the region of Pirmasens, 55 miles east of the Moselle, was taken as an indication of the increasing scope of the German assaults.

The German attacks, French sources said, were led by "suicide squads" of hand grenade throwers supported by companies employing automatic arms.

Extent of the fighting was such, the French declared, as to give the impression of a coordinated "feeler" attack along the entire line between the Luxembourg border and the German industrial city of Saarbruecken.

French military men attached significance to the fact that the activity followed closely Premier Daladier's radio speech refusing Adolf Hitler's peace formula based on the partition of Poland by Germany and Soviet Russia.

Some observers expressed belief the German attacks were the prelude to a large scale offensive which might be expected before the end of the week.

This belief, they said, was supported by Hitler's speech yesterday, in which the fuehrer declared that Germany is "prepared to take up the battle and fight it through" if his peace overtures were rejected.

French military headquarters last night described the fighting during the preceding 24 hours as "savage," and the Germans were said to have paid heavily.

Although caught in a heavy crossfire from machine guns, some of the Germans advanced close enough to hurl grenades into the French lines, it was said.

Meanwhile French troops which

Russia Resumes Conquests Interrupted For 35 Years

(By Associated Press)

Soviet Russia, by her expansion in Poland and her diplomatic maneuvers along the Baltic and the Dardanelles, shows signs of resuming the forward march to territory and influence that was interrupted under the last czar.

For the first time since defeat by Japan in the war of 1904-05 reversed her 1,000-year record of growth, the giant bear is reaching out again.

Almost bloodlessly she has recovered much of the Polish territory that was lost in the World war, the Bolshevist revolution and the debacle of imperial Germany.

Swiftly she has moved to regain the dominance of the north Baltic. Slowly she is working toward an understanding with Turkey on control of the Dandanelles.

From the ninth century until the early years of the 20th century, the history of Russia was mostly a story of growth.

Even during the Mongol invasions of the 13th century, the Russian princes managed by perseverance and shrewdness to solidify their position.

Down through the years—battles with the Ottoman Turks, the annexation of Ukrainia, wars against Sweden, the division of Poland, the reconquest of lands from Lithuania, strengthening of the empre under Peter the Great—the march gained impetus.

Ultimately Russia was knocking at the northern gates of India, reaching into Turkestan, and across the sea she held the new, undeveloped region of Alaska.

Sale of the latter to the United States in 1867 for $7,200,000 was a mere bagatelle to the all-powerful czars, although it embraced nearly 600,000 square miles, equal to one-fifth of the continental United States.

Great Russia stretched from the Baltic to the Pacific, a neighbor of Japan and a rival to Britain.

And here the star of Russian expansion began to wane. The disastrous clash with Japan cost her prestige and power. For the first time she lost territory, yielding the lower half

Previously two grand jurymen were arrested for attempting to read petitions in court, demanding that Byrne be ousted.

Long Expected To Ask Endorsement Of Old Regulars

Move Said To Follow Assertion Ward Leaders Don't Want Him

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 11.—(AP)—The New Orleans States today reported that Governor Earl K. Long had decided to block any further defections from his candidacy by going before the Old Regular Democratic organization in caucus here today and officially and formally ask for its support.

It was reported this decision was taken after an all-night series of conferences with ward leaders, several of whom are reported to have told the governor outright that he was not wanted by the rank and file of the leaders.

The States also said that Long was warned he was not wanted by the Old Regular organization and would only be endorsed by it as part of an agreement made with former Governor Richard W. Leche, Senator Allen J. Ellender and Mayor Robert S. Maestri. To avoid any further exhibitions of unrest it was reported Long notified his leaders he would seek Old Regular support in caucus today.

His request for Old Regular support would be in exchange for support of the administration in the next municipal election. The States said it was a foregone conclusion that the Old Regulars, despite the discontent, would endorse Long, in compliance with the old working agreement on city-state affairs.

The night-long Roosevelt hotel conferences followed hours of parleys in Mayor Maestri's city hall offices Tuesday attended by both members of the state administration and the Old Regulars.

During the night a steering committee was fashioned of three Old Regulars and two state administration men, it was reported. They were Dr. Joseph A. O'Hara, president of the Louisiana Democratic association, and State Representative Edmund Burk, representing the administration, and James Reilly, James Comiskey and Commissioner Joseph P. Skelly from the Old Regulars.

Observers noted absence from the committee of Ulic J. Burke, first ward Old Regular leader.

A. F. L. TO ASK FOR FIVE-MAN LABOR BOARD

Will Also Demand That Congress Revise Wagner Act

CINCINNATI, O., Oct. 11.—(AP)—The American Federation of Labor faced the next session of congress today with the overwhelming support of its convention delegates in its campaign to revise the controversial Wagner act and place its administration in the hands of a new five-man labor board.

A thunderous voice vote overcame the opposition of a small minority at the A. F. L.'s 59th convention yesterday, and reaffirmed the campaign launched by the federation in the last congress for sweeping changes in the act, its quasi-judicial board and administrative personnel.

Along with winning a fresh mandate for the amendment campaign, the federation leadership singled out Board Member Edwin S. Smith for particular opposition should his name be offered to the senate for reappointment.

In the last session of congress the A. F. L. organized opposition to senate confirmation of Donald W. Smith, who was reappointed to the board over federation protests. His name finally was withdrawn and Dr. William M. Leiserson's substituted.

"We'll do the same thing when the term of Edwin S. Smith expires," President William Green shouted in the midst of an attack on the board.

Federation leaders opposed Donald Smith on the charges that he had lost labor's confidence. They have charged Edwin Smith with bias in favor of C. I. O. industrial unionism as opposed to A. F. L. craft unionism.

TWO KILLED WHEN AUTOMOBILES HIT

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 11.—(AP)—Mrs. Joe Jacobs, 46, Ama, La., and William Slattery, 30, New Orleans, were killed in the collision of two automobiles 15 miles west of here yesterday.

Injured were Joe Jacobs, husband of the dead woman, Mrs. William Slattery, wife of the dead man, N. C. Stevens and Miss Audrey Clark.

A St Charles parish coroner's jury returned a verdict of involuntary homicide against Miss Mildred Reese, 25, nurse at the Marine hospital here, who was driving one car. She was unhurt.

Miss Reese, Mr. and Mrs. Slattery and Miss Clark were en route to New Orleans from Grand Isle.

JOHN JACKSON APPOINTED TO FILE PETITION

Republican Lawyer Named By Judge On Request Of 28 Citizens

FAVORITISM ALLEGED

New Orleans District Attorney Also Charged With Incompetency

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 11.—(AP)—John E. Jackson, a widely-known attorney and Republican national committeeman since 1932, today was appointed by Civil Judge Harold E. Moise to file impeachment proceedings against District Attorney Charles A. Byrne, as requested in a citizens petition yesterday.

The citizens, 28 in number, invoked section 9 of article 6 of the state constitution, asking that the civil district court appoint an attorney to take steps through the court to impeach the district attorney under fire following charges filed by seven members of the Orleans parish grand jury Monday.

He was charged in their petition with incompetence, favoritism and gross misconduct in office.

After Jackson files the impeachment suit it will be allotted in regular order to one of the five divisions of the civil district court, and the defendant has the right to ask trial by jury or otherwise.

Meanwhile four members of the Orleans parish grand jury who Monday signed the petition charging Byrne with obstructing their investigation into graft and corruption today refused to meet in "executive session" with Judge George P. Platt, who discharged two of the jurors for attempting to read their petition.

The jurors' action was reportedly taken on advice of their attorney, Moise Steeg, Jr., after Platt had announced there would be an executive session of some of the members of the grand jury.

"The purpose is not for publication because it is an executive session and is necessarily secret," Platt said.

An appeal from Platt's refusal to reinstate the two jurors, Edgar H. Powell and Sidney DeArmas, to the grand jury is anticipated.

DISSENSION GROWING AMONG LONG FOLLOWERS

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 11.—(AP)—Growing dissension was reported today among unindicted members of the old Huey P. Long dictatorship as emboldened citizen groups, "revolting" against graft and corruption, launched new attacks.

Some 5,000 citizens gathered yesterday in front of criminal court, repeatedly hissed Governor Earl K. Long's name, and yelled for the removal from office of District Attorney Charles A. Byrne.

Seven members of the New Orleans grand jury investigating political scandals charged Byrne was hampering its work by shielding suspected law violators. Two jurors who sought to read the charges in court were arrested, sentenced for contempt and dismissed from the jury.

Byrne, in a formal statement, blamed the present trouble on "partisan politicians" attempting to "sway the grand jury and to impress judges by the clamoring of a mob." He said he and his aides had given the grand jury every assistance.

With several moves on foot to displace the administration-appointed Byrne, Governor Long hurried to New Orleans from Baton Rouge late yesterday. He conferred with his adherents far into the night in a suite in the hotel (Roosevelt) which Huey Long once frequented. A spokesman said it was just a "friendly get-together."

Mayor Robert S. Maestri, generally recognized as the state political boss, had conferred a few hours before with his city ward leaders. The mayor said there was nothing unusual about it.

The Times-Picayune said some of the city leaders were disgruntled over a number of Long's selections of candidates for the legislature in the January primary in which Long himself will seek to succeed himself. There are 10 other gubernatorial candidates.

Many leaders of the once all-powerful Long regime have fallen under federal and state indictments, including former Governor Richard W. Leche and Seymour Weiss, once Long's treasurer.

O. John Rogge, assistant United States attorney general, who is directing the federal investigation in Louisiana, is expected to return here Sunday and the federal grand jury may bring in additional indictments Monday.

Governor Long's conference in the hotel suite of Mayor Maestri was closed last night to all except his close followers. Attempts to reach him by telephone met with the answer "He's not here."

At the door were Earle Christenberry, Long's secretary, and John Klorer, for many years a follower of the late Huey P. Long.

Among the many political leaders who filed through Mayor Maestri's office during the afternoon was Dr. Joseph A. O'Hara, president of the Louisiana Democratic association, the late Huey P. Long's organization.

He greeted Mayor Maestri with: "I just dropped over to see how you were getting along."

Relative to the jurors' allegation that Byrne "insulated witnesses from the grand jury by questioning them before their appearance in the grand jury room," Byrne asserted it was the custom "universally pursued by every district attorney in the United States to examine witnesses before presenting them to the grand jury."

He said also that members of the jury had given their consent to this procedure.

"I have no idea what is meant," Byrne declared, "when they say the grand jury cannot adequately and impartially inquire into the numerous violations of the criminal laws of the state of Louisiana without investigating the affairs of a number of the associates of the district attorney and his staff which will be seriously embarrassing to them and cause them to have a personal interest in such inquiries adverse to the state. Only two hours before his surrender, Gallogly had telephoned his mother in Atlanta that he was giving up.

Informed a prison guard had been charged with aiding his escape, Gallogly heatedly insisted the guard knew nothing of his plans and were not responsible for his getaway.

"I deliberately came to Dallas—and Texas—because the people out here in the southwest are real men. They'll understand my case."

Meanwhile Sheriff Schmid held him prisoner and said Georgia officers were en route to request extradition.

Gallogly said he had engaged an attorney, one that recently figured in a sensational extradition hearing for a Texas oil man in federal court.

Texas officials did not comment on Gallogly's plea for "Texas justice."

Gallogly debunked reports of "many, many years" that the slaying of the drug clerk was the result of a search for thrills.

"It's pure bosh—we were just drinking."

He described again details of the slaying which led to a death sentence for his companion, George Harsh, later commuted to life upon Gallogly's agreement to plead guilty and take a life sentence. Three efforts for a parole have failed, Gallogly said, and "political persecution will keep me from getting justice in Georgia."

The first lord of the admiralty, Winston Churchill, declared Britain had lost 5,809 tons of shipping and taken 13,615 tons from Germany between September 24 and October 9.

Authorized German sources in Berlin said the Nazi government saw no conflict between Hitler's peace proposals and what was mentioned yesterday by Premier Daladier [illegible] defense of France and guarantees for European peace.

Germans waited, however, to hear what Prime Minister Chamberlain would have to say tomorrow.

Daladier said the Allies would fight on for definite guarantees of lasting peace in Europe. Chamberlain is scheduled to speak in the house of commons tomorrow, possibly giving the British reply to Hitler's Friday reichstag speech which indicated willingness for peace based on recognition of the conquest of Poland.

The British home office studied ways of combatting "defeatist propaganda" advocating peace with Hitler which they said had been distributed from door to door.

The government announced that a total of 317,000 tons of goods bound for Germany had been seized since war started September 3.

At the outset of the regular monthly meeting A. E. Myatt, juror from Ward 3, offered a resolution which he insisted be placed in the minutes asking the resignation of President J. Lloyd Waller, who recently was indicted by a special session of the Ouachita parish grand jury for "accepting money other than his salary as a police juror" in connection with sales of gasoline to the parish. He did not receive a second to the resolution. Mr. Myatt said there are only two ways to remove a police juror: by recall and by vote of members of the police jury. Other jurors vigorously objected to the resolution.

Liquor licenses were voted for R. L. Louden, Ward 6, and Mr. W. E. Copeland, Ward 3. Bills for road maintenance and the general fund were approved and other routine business disposed.

MIRIAM HOPKINS GRANTED DIVORCE

RENO, Nev., Oct. 11.—(AP)—Blonde Miriam Hopkins, actress, won an uncontested divorce today on grounds of cruelty from Anatole Litvak, film director. At the brief, private hearing, Litvak was represented by counsel. He filed a cross-complaint charging desertion, but no evidence was offered in his behalf.

The couple was married at Yuma, Ariz., September 4, 1937. The actress spent her six weeks residence at a secluded Lake Tahoe resort. She consistently refused to discuss her divorce plans or to pose for news photographers.

RUSSIA RENEWS ITS CONQUESTS

[illegible]

From [illegible] of the Russian empire [illegible] declared independence [illegible] Estonia became a nation [illegible] Latvia was created [illegible] Lithuania became a republic. Poland got great tracts of White Russia and the Ukraine, and Bessarabia was joined to Rumania.

In all Russia lost more than 20,000,000 people and more than 200,000 square miles of territory. The U. S. S. R. was left with 8,336,864 square miles. But preoccupied with the Communist experiment, Russia apparently gave little heed to the losses.

The times have changed. Russia has rested and many believe she has grown strong. With hardly more than a display of military might, she has regained much of what she lost to Poland.

While three great powers of western Europe came to grips, Russia stepped back into her old Baltic lands. Estonia, Latvia and Lithuania have hastened to hand over what concessions were asked. And now Finland has plodded unhappily to the Kremlin council chambers. A Turkish pact is under discussion.

In the east actual control of the people's Mongolian republic has been acquired through a mutual assistance pact. In Chinese Turkestan the story is said to be much the same.

Russia is reaching out again.

GIN SEED HOUSE IS DESTROYED BY FIRE

BONITA, La., Oct. 11.—(Special)—Fire of undetermined origin destroyed the seed house and loading platform of the Morehouse Gin company here about 3 o'clock this morning, resulting in the loss of 125 tons of cotton seed and 200 bales of cotton partially covered by insurance.

The gin is owned and operated by F. M. Doles and E. A. Doles, both of Bonita. The feed house was completely destroyed.

The fire was discovered by a neighbor, Mrs. Alma Fenton, who reported that the building was then completely ablaze. Some 125 bales of cotton were removed from the yard before the fire reached them. The gin proper, a service station and the Ellis Doles residence, adjoining the feed house, escaped the flames because of a stiff breeze blowing in the opposite direction.

SHAW STATES CHAMBERLAIN MUST DECIDE

Thinks Attack Should Be Made On Berlin Or War Stopped

LONDON, Oct. 11.—(AP)—George Bernard Shaw says it's up to Prime Minister Chamberlain to declare whether he is willing to pursue war by bombing Berlin and if not the sooner a peace conference is held the better.

"Our pledge * * * to Poland was explicit," Shaw wrote in a letter to the Manchester Guardian. "We were to come to her aid with all our resources, which meant that when the first German soldier crossed the Polish frontier, the R. A. F. would bomb Berlin; for in no other way could we help Poland, being unable to put a British soldier into Poland or a British ship into the Baltic before Poland was conquered.

"On the strength of that pledge, Poland put up desperate resistance * * *. Now bombing Berlin meant the beginning of a series of retaliations in which our cities and German cities would be changed into rubbish heaps. And when it came to this point Mr. Chamberlain found simply that he could not bring himself to do it. Now this was only one instance of what was happening all around.

"The Berlin-Rome axis was to have annihilated us, but when Signor Mussolini realized what he was letting Italy in for at the hands of the French and British (air) aces and the Mediterranean fleet, he backed out. The anti-Comintern pact was to have rallied all capitalist Europe against the U. S. S. R., with the fuehrer and Il Duce as saviours of the world from Communism, but what actually happened was that when all capitalist Europe, with Japan in the bargain, realized that the Red army held the military balance they all sought an alliance with Russia.

"Stalin just pushed them out of the way and took what he wanted of Poland * * * Herr Hitler seeing that the anti-Comintern pact had gone 'phut' quickly decided to claim Stalin as an ally and share the spoils with him.

"When we and the French attacked Hitler on his western front * * * and it was his business to raid London with his famous air force, he too recoiled from starting that ruinous game * * *.

"What Minister Chamberlain has to declare now is whether he is going to bomb Berlin or not. If he does the consequences will go far beyond our maddest intentions and be different from anything either we or Herr Hitler contemplate. If not, the sooner we stop the war and arrange for tabling of our respective grievances and those of the little states we have destroyed the better * * *."

ASSEMBLY CHURCH'S REVIVAL STARTING

The revival services which began Sunday at the Assembly of God church, Cypress and Crosley streets, continues with increased interest. Evangelist L. S. Evans of Shreveport, formerly a Baptist pastor and evangelist, is conducting the preaching. He spoke Sunday night on the subject of soul winning. "The greatest task ever committed to man," said the speaker, "has been through the God-given baptism of the Holy Spirit. Through this we may have power to win souls."

The theme on Monday evening was "Seven New Things," taking his text from 2 Corinthians, chapter 5. "After becoming a Christian we enter a life characterized by a new walk, a new life, new aims, a new work and a new motive. We enter the land of beginning again," said the evangelist.

Among the visitors present Monday night, was Rev. James Cockman, of Missouri, who led the praise service, and brought two special messages in song. He played his own accompaniment on the accordion to the delight of the audience. Brother Cockman is an accomplished musician and pleased a large audience.

DIVORCE DENIED TO AGED COUPLE

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., Oct. 11.—(AP)—Chancery Court Jurist J. Lon Foust is not a man to let a second cup of coffee put an end to 52 years of married life.

Lewis Thomas Lee, 75, sought divorce on grounds his 76-year-old wife was cruel and wouldn't let him have his second cup of breakfast coffee. Mrs. Lee rejoined with charges of various minor cruelties.

The Lees, Chancellor Foust pointed out, have reared eight children "and done a good job of it."

"I think," he added, denying their pleas, "that because of their ages they have magnified the causes of their disagreement."

No thinking businessman favors unfair employment policies or bad working conditions or excessively long hours of work. Time and again for many years leading businessmen and the leaders of the established unions have sat down together, discussed common problems, and by the process of arbitration arrived at solutions which have been beneficial and fair to all. There is no anti-labor feeling among the business leaders of this country—even as there is no anti-business feeling among "real" labor leaders. Both sides know that each depends on the other—that capital and labor will rise or fall together.

It is the racketeering radicals that cause the trouble. When they unfairly fight business, they fight employment, better wages, improved working conditions. They fight the welfare of the worker whose cause they pretend to espouse. The sooner American labor as a whole realizes this, the better off we all shall be.

In The Stars

It seems that in the great city there was a wise astrologer, who by cabalistic calculations could foresee the future. The stars revealed to him the fate of mankind.

Does this call to your mind a medieval city, with a tower reached by winding stairs, and a wizened man in peaked cap poring over volumes of necromancy? Not at all. This is Paris, 1939, and there is one Dom Neroman who is a professor in the school of mines and who claims to be able to read in the stars the secrets of the future. He is now busy with observations which, he claims, will disclose the duration and the winner of the present European war.

If that is true, it opens up a great vista. Hitler is supposed to be not unimpressed by stargazers and astrologists. Why not appoint an official universal astrologer on whom all rulers think they can depend? Let him tell how the war must inevitably come out, as governed by the stars. Then just call off the war and go on from there, accepting the astrologer's version of the inevitable.

Silly? Well, how do you like the way things are done now?

Reports from London, Berlin, and Warsaw convince us there are hostilities in Europe, but after reading them we're not quite sure whether there are three wars or one going on.

HIGH TALENT AND HIGH WORKMANSHIP

[illegible] Arts and crafts [illegible] are [illegible] natural when [illegible] Only com-[illegible]

[illegible] and speed [illegible] knows what [illegible] this feeling of ex-[illegible] discouragement that occasionally [illegible] only natural for him to want to escape [illegible]

Of course he cannot. Nobody can. It becomes the duty of the teachers and parents to hold the gifted child, whatever his talent, to the exactions of his gift, to the high standard of workmanship it demands of him. A student who can excel is failing when he gets a passing mark only and is content with that. He is tired. He needs rest, then encouragement, then pressure for work to a standard. He must work.

The only difficulty about this whole matter is in discovering the true talent. Parents and teachers would like to bestow talent on every child that comes their way. Some children are bright for a number of grades, then they slow down, some show a strong tendency to work along some line of their choosing, and then lose interest in it, some show a talent and ability to develop it [illegible] through their school courses. Shall the teacher and parents drive all these children to high accomplishment? They cannot.

It is natural for all children to resent effort and fatigue. Gifted children do not tire as easily as those who have less talent, but they tire in time. The difference between them is that the truly talented child can respond again after rest while the one whose gift has reached its limits cannot go beyond the point he has reached.

This means that when a child persistently fails to reach the high standard of talent, he is not truly talented. He has some ability which has reached its height of development. The truly talented one will go on and on, far beyond his companions, until he, too, reaches the crest of his power, maybe in middle age, maybe in old age. But sometime. No, every child cannot get A, nor B plus. And some A children do arrive at the place where they must be content with a B. Just feel your way along. The children usually do what they can do.

Is your child a finicky, too-light eater? You will be greatly helped by Angelo Patri's booklet, "Eating." Send for it, enclosing ten cents in coin. Address Angelo Patri, care the Monroe News-Star, Postoffice Box 75, Station O, New York, N. Y.

Foreign Affairs

The president [illegible] congress.

Congress granted loads of authority to the president [illegible] the depression. An act of March 9, 1933, authorized him to regulate foreign exchange during a national emergency, a power once largely in private hands. May 12, 1933, he was given power to print $3,000,000,000 of greenback money (straight inflation) and to pare down the gold-weight of the dollar. Republicans claim to have filibustered him out of some of those powers last session, but many believe they failed.

An act of June 19, 1934, gives the president control over all avenues of wire and air communication. Pre-World war acts gave him power to demand right of way for troops and war supplies in time of "threatened" war, and to take over the railroads or "any system of transportation" in event of actual war.

Under an act of August 30, 1935, he can suspend, in time of emergency, provisions of the act relating to wage rates for laborers and mechanics employed on public buildings.

Under an act of September 1, 1937, he can (and lately did) suspend the sugar quotas.

No Snapshots

An act of January 12, 1938, permitted him to prohibit photographing of naval or military installations.

An act of June 6, 1939, authorized the president to close the exchanges in time of emergency for 90 days while an act of the year before authorized him to pump money into any wobbly insurance company.

A power dating back to April 11, 1898, permits the president to have fortifications erected any place in a time of urgency without so much as a how-do-you-do as to who owns the property to be taken over.

And just as a sample of powers he has during war time, he could clean out all liquor houses around army or navy reservations, and even around coal mines. And that isn't all. In the last war the president could prohibit use of grain even to make liquor.

Recently a Boeing YB-17A (flying fortress) flew at an average speed of 259 miles an hour with a payload of 11,023 pounds to set a new speed record.

CLUB MEMBERS GET 7 MORE HEREFORDS

Bringing the total to 11, seven more high grade Hereford steer calves were presented to Ouachita 4-H club members at the fair grounds Sunday afternoon.

The better-calf project is being financed by businessmen of Monroe and West Monroe through the Chamber of Commerce. Club members will feed the calves until next April when they will be shown at the state-wide contest in competition with other club calves. Afterwards, they will be sold at auction on the university campus.

Receiving calves Sunday were: Two girls, Elaine Willis and Anese Rogers, and five boys, Everett Zigler, Harry McDonald, R. T. Faulk, Jr., Bobby Kilpatrick and Clarence Stevens. Joe Dixon, T. A. Calloway, Jr., and John Landrum had already received calves.

The annual average tire bill in the United States in 1910 was $176. During 1938, only one-tenth of that amount was spent for seven times the mileage.

Jimmie Fidler In Hollywood

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 11.—I've just seen—for the second time, since I wanted to re-check my first impressions—a preview of "Nurse Edith Cavell." Unquestionably, it's a great picture. Anna Neagle, as the English nurse executed in 1915 by order of a German military tribunal, gives a never-to-be-forgotten performance. Yet I find myself wishing I had never seen it. Such pictures should be left for some future generation less involved emotionally than you and I are today.

"Nurse Edith Cavell" was intended as an indictment of war, not as an indictment of Germans or the German military system. Its producer-director, Herbert Wilcox, leaned over backward in his effort to be fair—to avoid any suspicion of propagandizing. Yet no other picture [illegible] so certain to inflame anti-German sentiment, for "Nurse Edith Cavell" presents attested facts [illegible]

Society Singer Defies Critics

Here is a "society songstress" who hurls the defy at columnistic reptiles who hiss that she is "taking the bread out of the mouths of breadwinners." Anne Francine doesn't think so. A blue-blooded Philadelphian (her family is in the Social Register), she is warbling successfully at a Manhattan oasis, the Coq Rouge.

Her friends still talk to her even if she is singing for money, but she doesn't talk to them if they hand her that "You were charming, my dear!" She can sing, she believes in her ability, and she doesn't understand why social ranking should handicap her career. She is thankful that she does not stem from the Almanac de Gotha, for them she would forever be silenced.

She never set out to be a professional songstress, anyway. But it seems that the Coq Rouge advertised a "debutante singing contest" last year and a practical joking friend sent in her name. So forced into the situation, Anne sang and won—hands down.

That settled it. And the other unusual phase of her story is that her parents don't mind at all. In fact, they are solicitous of how she is get-

inter Closes In On Far orth, Ending Highway And Water Traffic

ALMER, Alaska, Oct. 11.—(AP)—onists in the government's Mata-ka valley project turned to dog ns and snowshoes today to salvage t they could of their crops after evere snowstorm and cold wave ch created the most serious crop ation since the colony was formed e than four years ago.

he mid-western farmers who came to escape dust and heat were un- to estimate the "untold damage" n the sudden and unexpected wfall of 12 to 18 inches Sunday. The perature hovered around 10 de- s above zero and there was no up in sight.

nly a small portion of grain had n harvested, about 50 per cent was shocks in the field or uncut.

cres of market garden produce e caught unharvested. Fields of cabbage were blowing bare and freezing swiftly.

Farmers expected the first snow would melt, but a sharp drop in temperature froze some snow that had melted and a thin layer of ice began forming on the ground.

Mrs. Harry Duff, wife of a colonist, hitched her dog team to a sled and struggled through the snow, digging potatoes which were still unfrozen.

One field of cabbage was harvested in part by colonists who went out on snowshoes.

One farmer had 25 acres of hay uncut; its loss would mean a feed shortage for livestock. Other colonists each had 10 acres of grain flattened by the snow. Even the colony's experimental farm was damaged.

Many of the colonists were depending on the return from their crops to meet obligations.

Discouraged over the new turn of events some gave up hope for a harvest and left for the forest to hunt.

The colony, established by the government for rehabilitation of stranded populations, expected to harvest the biggest crop in its history this season in the fertile valley.

The land is especially suitable to the growth of hay, potatoes, cabbage, carrots, turnips, rutabagas, beets, radishes, onions, parsley, lettuce, spinach and other vegetables.

In addition to crops, the colony has a large livestock and dairy business.

Produce is marketed through a farm cooperative association, primarily to merchants supplying the market in nearby Anchorage and as far north as Fairbanks.

Last summer the colonists approved a new program leading to divorcing the project from government relief. Originally it was sponsored by the Alaska Rural Rehabilitation corporation, but many of its functions already have been taken over by the cooperative.

The valley's current population totals about 800.

WINTER CLOSES IN ON FAR NORTH AREAS

FAIRBANKS, Alaska, Oct. 11.—(AP)—Winter closed in on the far north today, ending highway and water traffic into the Alaskan interior.

Buses scheduled to leave here via the Richardson highway on the last trip of the season to the coastal port of Valdez turned back after reports of snow storms in the high passes were received.

The ferry at Big Delta, 90 miles south on the Tanana and Delta rivers, was scheduled to be pulled from the river this week-end, terminating river service.

Ice in the Chena river here closed gaps to form an ice sheet from shore to shore.

Highway, river and railroad traffic over the government owned Alaskan railroad this season has been the heaviest in years.

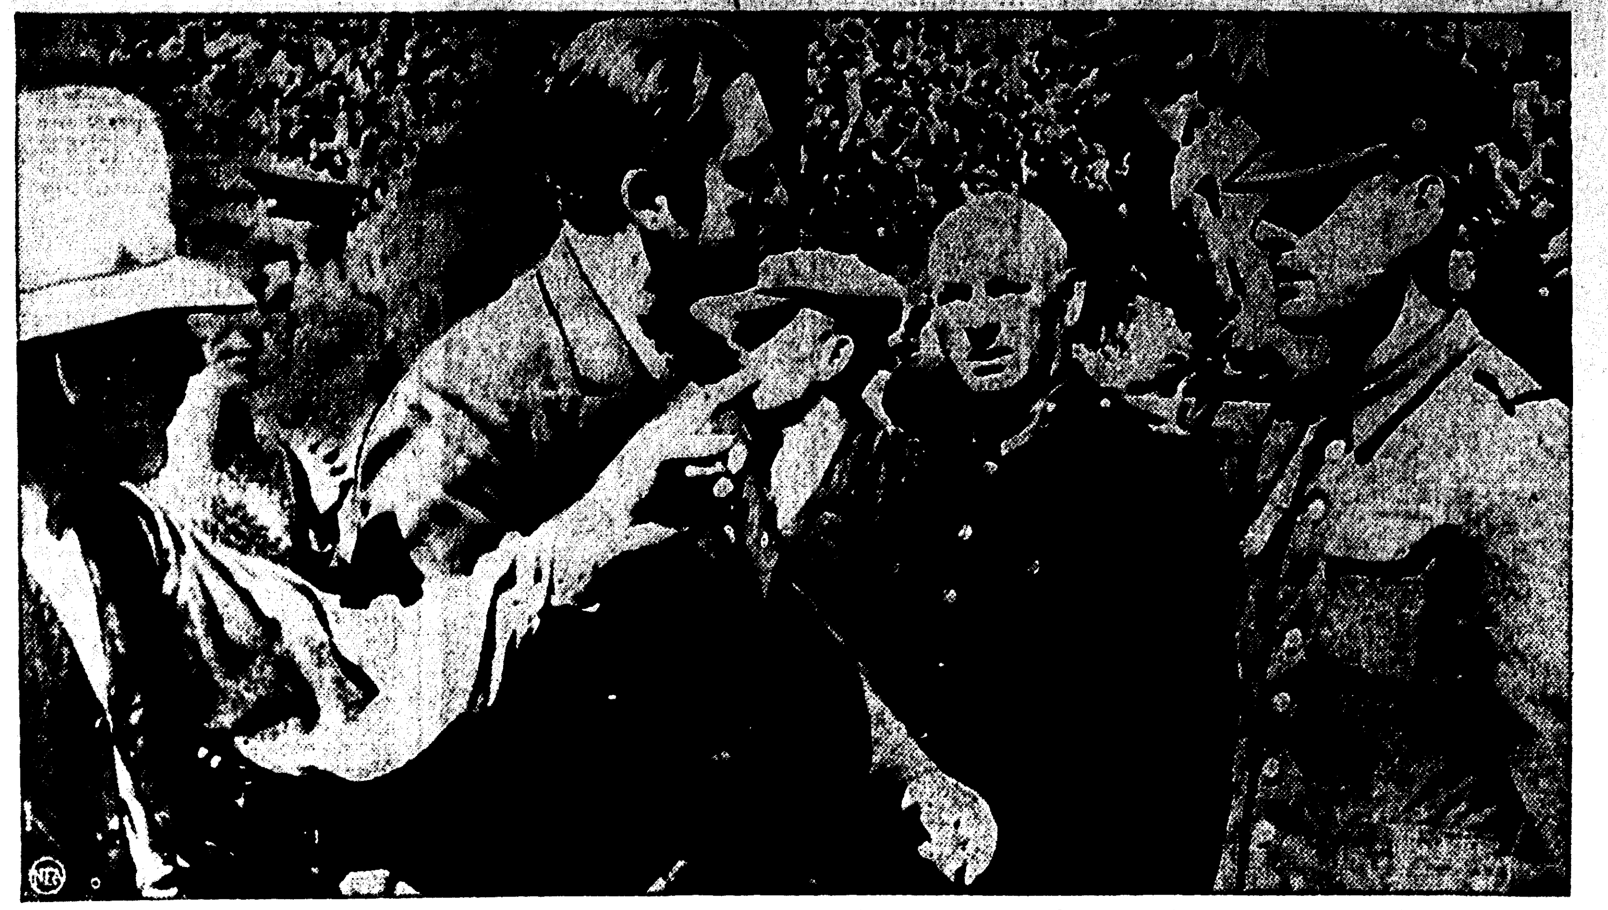
GERMAN FINGER OF RETRIBUTION



"Murderer!" According to German censor's caption on this picture, German-born resident of Poland puts the finger on the murderer of his brother. "Our photo shows a dramatic scene," the censor's cutlines read, "which is not the only one of its kind in the Polish districts occupied by German troops. A member of the German population has been led through the lines of captured snipers and bandits, against whom a severe investigation is under way regarding their participation in the horrible outrages against the German people." Fate of the accused Polish soldier remains a mystery—but firing squads have been active.

HUNT ASKS LAW TO AID IF WAR SHOULD OCCUR

Would Be For Protection Of Soldiers If American Troops Participate

C. A. Hunt, service officer of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, has addressed an open letter to Representative Newt V. Mills, Senator John Overton, Senator Allen Ellender and to high officials of the V. F. W. urging that a law be enacted to provide that in the event that the United States enters the war in Europe if American veterans are sent overseas and participate, that they will be rated as presumptive on service connected disabilities.

The text of the letter to Representative Mills which was of the same context as all the others, is as follows:

Honorable Newt V. Mills
House of Representatives
Washington, D. C.
My dear Congressman:

To protect veterans who participate in the next war, before the war begins:

Enact the following law or amend the neutrality act to provide that in the event that the United States take part in the present European war now in progress, and if American veterans are sent overseas and take part in this war, that they will be rated as presumptive on service connected disabilities; this will also apply to navy men and marines on duty in the Atlantic ocean or a hostile water.

"And dependents will immediately receive a pension for men killed in action or that die from the effects of war.

"The above to remedy the present position of thousands of overseas veterans, whose records were lost or destroyed or not kept, who are now prevented from receiving their just due pension or liability allowance for wounds or disabilities incurred in line of duty during World war.

"Sincerely yours,
"C. A. HUNT
"Service Commissioner."

IROQUOIS EXPECTED TO DOCK LATE TODAY

NEW YORK, Oct. 11.—(AP)—Protected by a United States naval convoy, the threatened American liner Iroquois was expected to dock late today with 584 passengers from Europe.

The exact arrival time of the vessel, which the German admiralty informed the United States it had learned was slated for "the same fate as the Athenia," was kept secret.

The Iroquois' radio was silent, and United States lines officials said even they did not know the ship's exact position. The craft was guarded by naval destroyers and a coast guard cutter.

As it neared the American shore, search by sea and air was intensified for an alien submarine reported lurking off the Maine coast. An amphibian plane at Salem, Mass., joined coast guard and naval surface patrol vessels in the hunt begun Monday.

In its warning the German admiralty indicated plans had been drawn to sink the Iroquois off the American coast. It left the implication the carrier would be sunk by Great Britain or France, an implication British sources said was too ridiculous to deny.

PERAMBULATORS PERMITTED

NEW YORK, Oct. 11.—(AP)—Babies in perambulators, hitherto barred from the New York World's fair, will be admitted free beginning next Monday. Officials said the baby carriages would not be permitted on week-end days, however, because of possible traffic jams. There is a diaper service on the grounds.

NO ONE MAN TO TAKE PLACE OF EXECUTIONER

States Appointing Different Men To Succeed Elliott

NEW YORK, Oct. 11.—(AP)—Gaunt Robert Elliott, who began his career at 52 and executed some 400 persons in 13 years, appears destined to go into history as America's most successful legal practitioner of the fine art of putting his fellow man to death.

Apparently no one man will be chosen as successor to the slim, gray, tired-faced disbeliever in capital punishment who served six eastern states as official executioner with unparalleled skill.

Hundreds of persons throughout the nation have applied for the posts vacated yesterday by Elliott's death from heart disease, but prison officials in the six states—New York, Massachusetts, New Jersey, Connecticut, Pennsylvania and Vermont—have showed no signs of agreeing on a single candidate.

Warden Lewis E. Lawes said a new executioner had been "tentatively" chosen at Sing Sing but that his identity would be kept secret. So will that of the man already picked by Warden Stanley P. Ashe of Pennsylvania's western penitentiary at Bellefonte, where seven men are in the death house.

Among the 70 applicants in Pennsylvania were a World war veteran, a former electrician who had acted as an assistant undertaker at a railroad wreck in which 65 were killed, and a man who "would sooner get a job like that than ask the relief to feed my family."

All thought their experiences had hardened their nerves enough to stand the post, the strain of which led Elliott's predecessor at Sing Sing to commit suicide.

Warden Ralph H. Walker of Connecticut state prison, where two executions are scheduled in December, said he had no immediate plans for appointing a successor to Elliott but had received a number of applications.

No one has been named at the New Jersey state prison at Trenton, also housing two condemned men, but Principal Keeper R. William Lagay said he had 60 applications on file.

Massachusetts prison officials have refused to disclose the identity of the mysterious "Mister X," whose technique while pinch-hitting for Elliott recently stirred criticism. Other applications have been received.

Vermont has made no announcement of who will take over the job there.

The first execution Elliott ever saw was bungled, the victim dying after he had been removed from the electric chair, and to avoid such mishaps he studied to make a science of his macaber trade.

The technique he devised, based on a 30-year experience as an electrician, was one full shock, 2,300 volts; one with a lowered current; another quick and heavy; another lowering; a last full shock—the coup de grace.

Elliott received fees varying upward from $100 for each execution. He said he never had made more than $5,000 a year.

RUSSIA SLAUGHTERED 35,000, SAYS WITNESS

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11.—(AP)—Former General Walter G. Krivitsky, who said he was in the Soviet military intelligence for 17 years, told the Dies committee today that the 1936-37 purge in Russia resulted in the deaths of 35,000 members of the Red army officers' corps.

In addition, Krivitsky related to the house committee investigating un-American activities that Josef Stalin sent from 300,000 to 400,000 persons to imprisonment or exile and "millions of the population to concentration camps."

Krivitsky, a small slight man of 40 with greying brown hair and hazel eyes, said that he broke with Stalin over the purge.

The witness testified through the aid of an interpreter. The purge, he said, reached its climax in 1936 and 1937.

"In this climactic period one could not remain in the party without taking part in the purge himself," he continued.

"Stalin demanded that I take an active part in the purge. This I refused to do and I broke with Stalin."

That was in 1937, Krivitsky said.

Born Samuel Ginsberg in the Russian Ukraine in 1899, he testified, his "official, legal Soviet government name" had been Krivitsky since 1919.

Entering the military intelligence in 1920, he said that from 1921 to 1923 he worked in the third bureau of the Red army general staff.

Suffering Women May Only Need "Build-Up"

A simple method is saving many women much pain and discomfort!

It is based on the knowledge that many of the headaches, nervousness, irritability, and those cramp-like intermittent pains of women are caused by functional dysmenorrhea due to a weak, run-down, undernourished condition.

The quick way so many women have found relief from these painful and embarrassing symptoms through proper use of CARDUI is best explained by the way this product stimulates appetite, improves digestion and assimilation.

That is the source of CARDUI'S great help in building up the physical resistance of women; the reason so many find it helps relieve their periodic pain and suffering when they use it by the directions.

Taken in larger doses "at the time," CARDUI helps many to soothe pain, allay nervousness, comfort sensitiveness. Used for 50 years.—Adv.

After A Man's Heart

by JEAN RANDALL

YESTERDAY: Buff still thinks Tim needs her, and she needs to be needed. She disregards her parents' instructions to return to Chicago, and moves to Boulder to be near Tim. She tells George Tim will marry her.

Chapter 12
New Establishment

THROUGOUT the day George contrasted Buff, her small energetic figure, her agile mind and her self-reliance, with the helpless and appealing Iris.

"'Fraid old Tim's the kind that likes to be leaned on," he mused. "Iris got his number the first time she saw him. Golly! When she lifted those long lashes and gave him an I'm-only-a-girl-please-come-to-my-rescue look, even I started figuring what I could do to help her. Buff, on the other hand, stands straight as a young aspen and defies all the winds of heaven to move her. I wonder——" He found this line of meditation so profitless that he abandoned it realizing with a grin that he was depending on Buff to work out her own plan for Tim's ultimate recovery.

Tim accepted the dinner invitation without hesitation. Whether his willingness came from George's inclusion, or whether belated gratitude for Buff's kindness dictated it, his partner and friend cared not a whit. The important thing was to get Tim within the sphere of Buff's influence.

They found her installed in a five-roomed apartment, the ornate furnishings of which produced solemn amusement in its new tenant. She pointed out a large oil painting above the fireplace.

"It was done by a local artist," she explained. "Before I retire it to oblivion I'd like your separate opinions upon its subject. At first I thought it was the explosion of a feather bed in the center of an Italian lake. Then Mrs. Webb said that it looked to her like a cherry orchard in full bloom in a desert sort of place. I was getting the sun [illegible] and I became convinced [illegible] of a [illegible] right and [illegible] I'm beginning to waver. What do you and George think, Tim?"

George made opera glasses of his hands and tried to view the work of art from different angles. Finally he announced that Buff was all wrong in her guesses.

"It's a couple of dozen white pigeons trying to fly with[illegible] their wings," he asserted. "Three of 'em are [illegible] One of 'em is two feet above ground."

To the amazement of the others, Tim joined in the nonsense.

"I'm surprised at [illegible]," he said severely. [illegible] when you see [illegible] clearly depicted [illegible] from being flung [illegible] I suppose it's a [illegible] resort of some kind," he went on thoughtfully, "and the stuff was neither buttered nor toasted. The purchaser [illegible]"

"We're all agreed [illegible] it's strong [illegible] water [illegible]" Buff said with relief. "Now when I get used to [illegible] two other trifling items in the place, I can settle down. For instance, if you want hot water in the bathtub you turn the knob that's marked 'waste.' And vice versa. And those two chairs that I've put in the corner and hedged off with a table are not to be relied upon. Even the original tenant—I'm sub-letting, you know—forgot and tried to sit on one, with alarming results. He weighs around two hundred, and I thought for a while I was going to have to call Mrs. Webb to help me get him to his feet."

Tim ran his hand through his hair, always a sign of bewilderment with him.

"But why did you rent this apartment?" he asked. His eyes went from the rug, against whose crimson background green and yellow flowers were flung, to the array of hideous ornaments on the mantelpiece. "There are plenty of nice places in Boulder. What made you choose this?"

Gay Evening

SHE shook her head but made no reply. Luckily Mrs. Webb came in at that moment and announced dinner.

George rolled expressive eyes as he tasted his soup.

"I hope you're going to ask us to dine here frequently," he said. "When I eat Mrs. Webb's cooking I realize I've practically starved when away from her."

"What," Buff demanded cautiously, "do you feel would be 'frequently'?"

"There are seven nights in each and every week," George said. "I don't want to presume on good nature, and it's true that if and when you leave Boulder Tim and I will have to subsist on what we receive at our boarding house. I think every other evening would be a happy compromise, don't you? That will give you time to miss us, if you like our company; or to rest up, if you don't. That strike you as fair and square, Tim?"

"It does not," was the succinct answer. "Buff, pay no attention to him. His lower nature gets the better of him when he's hungry. After dinner he'll be more reasonable."

It was a gay evening. Buff was careful to make it so, avoiding any topic which might disturb Tim.

"But just you wait, my dear boy," she mused when her guests had departed with enthusiastic thanks for her entertainment. "I shall play a waiting game for a few days—a week perhaps. After that, the deluge!"

She let both George and Tim severely alone for the next two days. Indeed it was George who telephoned to ask if she had forgotten about them, lost Mrs. Webb's valuable services, or had fallen into the lake depicted in the masterpiece over the mantel.

"I've been busy," she said. "But you can both come out to dinner tonight, if you like."

"If we like!"

George threw sufficient feeling into the words to make other comment unnecessary. But when he told Tim of his plans he encountered an unexpected obstacle.

"Go if you wish—and since you invited yourself," he said. "But I have other plans."

Questioned closely, he muttered of work to be done at the laboratory, "trying to catch up." George argued and pleaded in vain. Finally he again had recourse to the telephone.

"Tim says he can't come tonight," he announced plaintively.

"Can't or won't?" inquired Buff.

"Says 'can't'; means 'won't'!"

"Leave him to me."

So it was that when Tim emerged from his tiny office a little after six, he found Buff's car parked in front and Buff herself slumped restfully in the seat. She had the air of having been in that position for hours.

"Hop in," she bade him. "Nonsense, of course you [illegible] come. Well, you can wash up in my bathroom as well as in your own, can't you? Your shirt is reasonably clean," she added, inspecting him critically. "Anyway, Webby's heart will be broken if you aren't there to eat her biscuits."

Very, Very Determined

HE HESITATED, but the door she held open and the imperious gesture of her small hand were [illegible]. He climbed in. Presently he said, "Look here, Buff, it seems we'd have to talk this over after all. I expected by this time you'd have tired of your efforts to look after me. I hoped your father would have sent for you. I hoped—"

"You hoped to get rid of me, in fact." Her tone was cheerful and she gave a little [illegible] to her perky [illegible] very determined. "You are wasting [illegible] Tim, and [illegible] I want you to see [illegible] the apartment."

[illegible] An open [illegible] from [illegible] volumes. The painted monstrosity above the mantel had disappeared and a panel of Lance's [illegible] framed, lent an [illegible]. Ashtrays [illegible] the couch were [illegible]

"Better," she inquired.

"Much better. And cost about a thousand dollars, I suppose."

She produced a slip of paper which she shoved triumphantly in his unwilling hand.

"Eighty-seven dollars and forty-five cents," she announced. "Of course the cartoons and the books aren't included. I brought them from the ranch. But all the rest I paid spot cash for."

"Imagination must be the strong point in the Carroll family," he said rudely. "I happen to have priced a couch similar to this myself. It was a hundred and forty-five dollars. As for the rug——"

George, horrified, attempted to interrupt but Buff intervened calmly.

"Both are secondhand," she said. "The couch was all right as to springs but needed re-covering. That stuff looks expensive but it's only glazed chintz. The rug was a bargain because it had a burned place in one corner. Webby and I put the biggest chair over that so you can't see it. A carpenter made and stained the bookshelves for me. You'll find them on that list—$11.60. They're only pine though they do look like walnut," she concluded complacently.

"Golly, what a wife you'll make some man!" The words burst from George involuntarily. "I know I'm getting a bit thin on top, but then all the Weekes become bald prematurely. Once you get that firmly fixed in your mind, it doesn't seem nearly so bad, Buff. And I know I'm—er—not slender, but I'm sure the right diet could correct all that. Do you think you might consider me, darling?"

She shook her head.

"Sorry, George. I thought you knew Tim and I are practically engaged."

"We're not!" He glared at her. "It's all right to have your joke, Buff, but if you aren't careful people will begin to talk. All college towns are gossipy, didn't you know that? How'd you like to have everybody taking you seriously on this subject?"

"It gives me an idea," she said. "Dinner, Webby? Come and eat Tim. You won't be half so cross after you've been fed."

Continued Monday.

GRID TEAMS IN SOUTH LOOKING FOR MORE GLOR

THIS WEEK TO BE IMPORTANT FOR FOOTBALL

Apparently Destined To Enhance Prestige Of Southern Teams

By Hugh S. Fullerton, Jr.

NEW YORK, Oct. 11.—(AP)—Looking at things entirely from the intersectional angle, this is likely to be about the biggest week of the 1939 football season and another one which will enhance the prestige of southern football.

On a percentage basis, southern teams still are below the .500 mark in their major encounters with northern rivals but in the matter of glory they're tops and apparently headed still higher. Duke over Colgate, Alabama over Fordham, Louisiana State over Holy Cross, Mississippi State over Arkansas and Vanderbilt over Rice have been major southern triumphs against other sections. Then there have been such equally amazing affairs as the close scores of Georgia Tech against Notre Dame and Furman, Centre and Virginia which didn't figure to win at all against Army and Navy.

This week's program looks like much the same sort of stuff although the east figures to get off to a head start when Boston college apparently powerful [illegible] faces [illegible] beaten Florida [illegible].

North Carolina, with a wealth of fine backs [illegible] George Stirnweiss and Jim Lalanne [illegible] have the best of New York university. Fordham doesn't appear strong enough to stop Tulane at New Orleans. So far the Rams [illegible] been a one-track team without [illegible] to make the power plays effective.

Duke [illegible] the north [illegible] be able to take Pitt's Panthers at [illegible] on even terms, although the game should differ vastly from last year's test of [illegible] power. Georgia [illegible] Holy Cross [illegible] from Worcester are true.

Bringing the [illegible] west [illegible] the argument, Rice [illegible] Louisiana State should have a [illegible] and Texas A. and M., apparently the strongest of the Southwest conference teams, may get a real argument from Villanova's powerful outfit. Southern Methodist [illegible] a great deal [illegible] Notre Dame [illegible] has had two close squeaks [illegible] Texas Christian, dethroned [illegible] a good Temple team to [illegible] overcome.

Another great tussle may be that between Texas, winner of two important intersectional games so far, and Oklahoma, which [illegible] S. M. U. and [illegible] Northwestern. Their [illegible] schedules put them in different sections though they're not so far apart.

The midwest figures to break about even with Carnegie Tech possibly the [illegible] rated well ahead of Case and [illegible] over Chicago while Detroit figures to stage [illegible] Catholic university [illegible] leading east-west contests. Kansas and Kansas State of the Big Six [illegible] have any serious trouble against Colorado and Colorado State [illegible] unless cagy Bob Zuppke has something important up his sleeve [illegible] doesn't look like a match for Southern California.

AIR BATTLE LOOMS IN TIGER-RICE TILT

BATON ROUGE, La., Oct. 11.—(AP)—A great passing duel looms between Louisiana State and Rice when the rivals meet here Saturday night in their annual game.

In a scrimmage Tuesday L. S. U. reviewed its pass plays that worked so effectively last week-end against Holy Cross, with diminutive Leo Bird slinging aerials to Ken Kavanaugh.

Rice's Ernie Lain and Ollie Cordill are famed as a dangerous passing combination and the fight between the two air games may attract nearly 30,000 fans here this week-end.

Since the Bayou Tigers are being outweighed in nearly every game this season, they are mapping elaborate defense plans for the powerful Rice power plays.

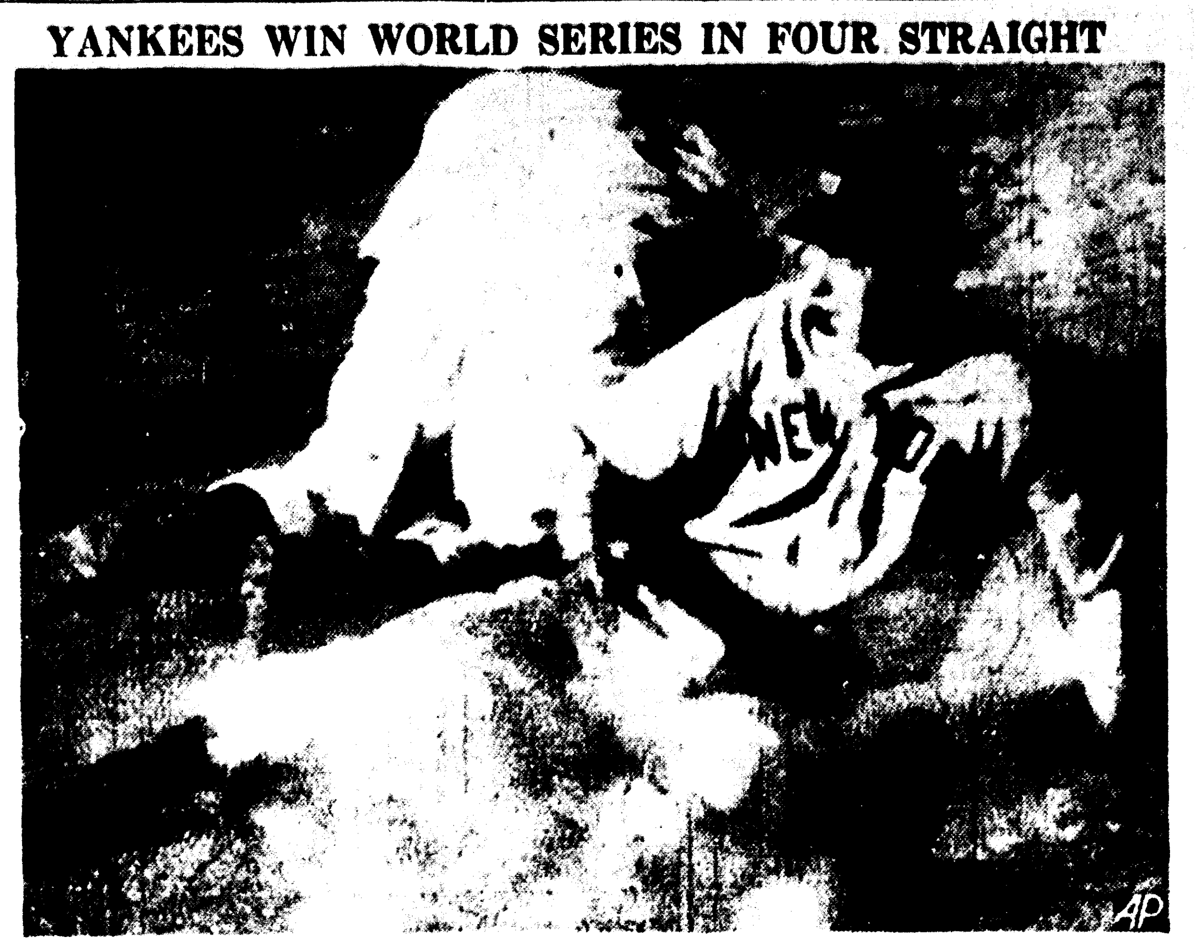
YANKEES WIN WORLD SERIES IN FOUR STRAIGHT



By their 7-to-4 victory over the Cincinnati Reds in the fourth game of the world series at Cincinnati the New York Yankees retained their baseball world championship. For a while in that final game it looked like they weren't going to win four straight, but here's the ninth-inning slide home by Yankee Joe DiMaggio which tied the score 4-to-4. Catcher shown is Lombardi of the Reds. In the tenth inning the Yanks turned on the heat to win.

SAMPSON BEATS OTTO LUDWIG IN COLORFUL BOUT

Yaqui Joe And Frankie Hill Wrestle To Draw In Semifinal Match

In one of the most uproarious sessions ever witnessed in a Monroe wrestling arena, both from the standpoint of fun and excitement, Dick Sampson [illegible] gladiator from Toledo [illegible] defeated Otto Ludwig, glaring [illegible] German [illegible] three falls to take the main event last night at G[illegible] arena.

In the semifinal, Frankie Hill of Waxahachie, Tex., and Yaqui Joe of Sonora, Mex. [illegible] 45 minutes to a draw.

[illegible]

Sampson [illegible] the stronger, kept [illegible] the upper hand except when [illegible] resorted to rough tactics. On [illegible] occasions when the German [illegible] Sampson [illegible] feet, Ludwig begged Sampson [illegible] hammered Sampson [illegible] to shake hands with him in a compact [illegible] and a second later he [illegible] the Toledoan to the mat.

After 24 minutes of "lovely" mixing, Sampson took the first fall with a shoulder [illegible] and [illegible] Ludwig took the second fall with a front crab hold after [illegible] and kicking Sampson [illegible] at least a dozen times. In the third [illegible] Ludwig injured Sampson's leg by [illegible] on a severe [illegible] hold while Referee [illegible] Martin was separating them at the ropes. Ludwig then kicked and stamped the injured leg until the referee disqualified him for unnecessary roughness, in accordance with an announced plan to make the wrestlers stick to clean grappling as far as possible.

At one point in the melee an angry fan leaped into the ring and began swinging at Ludwig until he was stopped by a policeman.

Hill and Yaqui Joe, both naturally clean, scientific grapplers, did their part in making the program one of the best that has been presented here, although neither was able to get a fall. Hill showed more scientific holds but Joe's powerful legs offset this advantage and Hill once walked away in disgust after trying vainly to bend one of the Indian's legs.

It was announced that the silver loving cup donated by Peacock Jewelry company will be awarded once each month to the wrestler voted by the fans as most popular and that the first wrestler to win the award three times will become the permanent possessor. Names of all the winners will be engraved on the cup.

J. B. Swanson made the announcements and W. C. "Bud" Fisher kept time. Announcements of next week's program will be made in Friday morning's paper.

PANTHERS SET TO CLAW TROJANS FRIDAY NIGHT

LAKE PROVIDENCE, La., Oct. 11 (Special)—After eight lean years without a victory over Tallulah, the Lake Providence Panthers are sharpening their claws for a battle with the Trojans Friday night. Tallulah has won the past three years by a one touchdown margin, but the Panthers feel they have an even chance for revenge Friday.

The Panthers will go into the game on the crest of three straight victories this season and will present a team headed by five veterans backs and a pair of dependable tackles.

TALL CORN STATE FANS ENTHUSIASTIC ABOUT GRID STAR

IOWA CITY, Ia., Oct. 11.—(AP)—Triple threat doesn't go far enough for enthusiastic Iowa football fans in describing the exploits of Nile Kinnick, Hawkeye senior halfback whose play is leading the tall corn state university out of the gridiron wilderness.

They want a term that also will take in those seven straight dropkicks the stocky senior sent through the uprights for extra points in Iowa's triumphs over South Dakota and Indiana.

He came down to earth a bit on this extra point business in the Hoosier game, missing the last three tries. His seven straight performance is a modern Iowa football record, however.

As a dropkicker, the Iowa firebrand is just a cub. He took up the booting specialty as a serious proposition last spring under the direction of Backfield Coach Frank Carideo, who is still as good a kicker as he was in his playing days at Notre Dame.

Kinnick averaged 55 yards from scrimmage in the two games this year, he tossed five touchdown passes and his punts have soared high and far. Captain Erwin Prasse, an end, caught three of his aerials for scores in the Indiana game.

Nile is the team's leading scorer with [illegible] points and his gains, 278 yards in 27 trials, come within 25 yards of equaling the achievements of the other 12 Iowa backs combined.

ORLEANS MAN AMATEUR HEAD

DiBenedetto First Southerner To Become A. A. U. President

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 11.—(AP)—An interest in school yard athletics 34 years ago was the stepping stone from which Lawrence diBenedetto rose to the presidency of the Amateur Athletic union and became the first southerner to head the organization in its 52-year history.

The 56-year-old, 200-pound diBenedetto automatically advanced to the presidency Tuesday because of the death of National President Samuel E. Hoyt, Sr., of New Haven, Conn. He formerly served as first vice-president.

Sitting in his office adjoining the city hall, Benny, as he is better known among A. A. U. officials and athletes, told how he became interested in amateur sports.

"I never was much of an athlete myself but only took part in inter-club basketball and baseball," Benny said. "In 1905 I lived in back of a downtown New Orleans parochial school where the Ushers society of the adjoining church played basketball, baseball and volley ball in the school yard.

"I used to place a ladder against my back fence and watch the games until finally I was invited to play."

Benny joined the Ushers society and persuaded the group to become members of the Southern Amateur Athletic union which was composed of teams from seven states. He was elected secretary of the southern body in 1907 and has held the position ever since.

When the S. A. A. U. began to take up too much territory diBenedetto was commissioned by the national organization to redistrict the territory. He traveled through Texas and organized the east Texas and southwestern district and then formed the southeastern.

Several times he has been offered an opportunity to travel abroad in the interest of American athletics but always declined, "because," he said, "someone else should have the job."

In 1932 diBenedetto served as assistant manager of the American track and field team in the Los Angeles Olympics and spent six weeks on the west coast.

Before being elected vice-president, diBenedetto served on various bodies within the A. A. U. including the executive, track and field, and basketball committees.

DiBenedetto came to New Orleans from Palermo, Italy, when he was three years old. He is married and the father of two grown sons.

He will serve as A. A. U. president until the annual election at the organization's annual convention in Miami, Fla., December 8-10, inclusive.

BATTERED REDS STILL PRESENT STRONG SQUAD

Yanks' Victims Should Repeat In National League Next Year

CINCINNATI, O., Oct. 11.—(AP)—A city election is coming up, the football season is claiming its due, and if the sun will ever give us a break, the frost will be on the punkin.

But this is a baseball city and the coroner's verdict is what means most right now.

The coroner, much to his own astonishment, found that despite the bloodshed the Cincinnati Reds were still whole and alive to a toenail. The Yanks may have pommeled the daylights out of them but the bones are sound and when the bruised spirit heals the team ought to be back like a whirlwind.

While Manager Bill McKechnie no doubt is thinking of improvements, and of the fact that past Yankee victims have had a time maintaining their National league prestige, this much may be said.

Barring injuries or one of those mysterious things which can happen to a team over a winter, the Reds, with the present lineup, should be able to walk out next spring and win any ball game they really wanted.

Almost all the mainstays are at or near—on either side of the line—their primes, as far as age goes. Most have just had a whale of a season and few have showed the slow-up sign. All have had the seasoning that goes with a typical National league dog fight and Bill McKechnie is still the boss. Until 1941, in fact.

Paul Derringer will be 33 when the season opens, and while he may not turn in another 25 and 7 year, he is far from through. Bucky Walters, who will be almost 30, may never win 27 games in a season again, but he has a lot of victories left in the old right arm.

Gene Thompson, who will be 22, will face the sophomore jinx, but he hasn't pitched like a flash in the pan. Lee Grissom, who still may turn out to be a world-beater, will be 27, and Johnny Vander Meer, pounding the comeback trail, will be 25.

Behind the bat, Ernie Lombardi, who may have to fight for his job, will be 32 and Willard Hershberger 28. Around the infield are Frank McCormick, 26; Linus Frey, 27, Billy Myers, 29; and Bill Werber, 31.

With the likely exception of left field, which has greyed every other hair in McKechnie's head, the outfield seems pretty well fixed. Harry Craft, 24, and Ival Goodman, 30, should have their best baseball in front of them.

It looks like a balanced, mature team. But the front office, which signed everybody for 1939 almost before the 1938 season was over, hasn't begun diplomatic conversations yet. The whole picture could be different comes the Ides of April.

WHITE SOX WIN FIFTH STRAIGHT CITY TITLE

CHICAGO, Oct. 11.—(AP)—The Chicago White Sox won their fifth consecutive city baseball championship Tuesday night, defeating their National league neighbors, the Cubs, 7 to 1, in the seventh and deciding game of the series.

A crowd of 14,781 braved 53-degree weather to see Ted Lyons, 38-year-old Sox veteran, set the Cubs down with five hits to become the only pitcher on either team to win two games in this year's municipal title battle.

The Cubs last won the city title in 1930. The American leaguers won the crown in 1931, 1933, 1936 and 1937, no series being played in other years. Tuesday night's victory gave the Sox 16 victories and the Cubs five in their rivalry, dating back to 1903.

RAMS DRILL FOR WAVE

NEW YORK, Oct. 11.—(AP)—In their first hard drill since last Saturday's defeat by Alabama, Fordham's Rams made a weak showing Tuesday in a long scrimmage against the freshmen. The varsity's blocking and tackling was ragged although Coach Jimmy Crowley called for a special workout on those features before the contact work. Crowley also had the first stringers walking through forward pass plays against the reserves, preparing an air attack for the Tulane game.

STRESS OFFENSE AS TRIBE PREPS FOR ARKANSANS

Indians Get Hard Drill For Friday Battle With Ouachita College

Coach James L. Malone put the Northeast Center of L. S. U. Indians through a strenuous session yesterday, stressing the Tribe's running attack, its pass offense and defense and putting more emphasis on tackling.

The Redskins go to Arkadelphia, Ark., Friday for a clash with the Ouachita college Tigers, and Coach Malone expects to have his charges well prepared for their first trip from home since they opened the season at Shreveport against Centenary's Junior Gents.

Work within their "opponents" 10-yard line took much of the time in yesterday's drills. Coach Malone doesn't want a possible good Ouachita defense to stop his charges cold when they get in good scoring range, and for that reason spent time drilling the Tribe on "touchdown plays" within the ten-yard line.

A long defensive drill against plays expected to be employed by the husky Ouachita Tigers is on tap for today.

Roe Wroten, fleet little halfback from Haynesville, was running with the regulars yesterday in the place of the ailing Don Short, ace ball-carrier, and his fast, shifty running may prove valuable Friday.

Short is one of three Tribesmen nursing injuries that may keep them out of action this week. Short has a side and hand injury. Bill Singleton, blocking back, came out of the L. S. U. Frosh battle with a battered side as the result of almost continuous blocking, and Harry Morton, halfback, is out with a minor leg injury.

Coach Malone said last night it was doubtful if Short and Singleton will play, but he stated Morton possibly would be available for service.

Ouachita teams have always given Center close battles, one touchdown being the usual margin of victory, and this year's battle is expected to be no exception. The Bengals are reported to be almost as big as the freshman eleven L. S. U. sent here last week, the team averaging 200 pounds. The Arkansans run from the Notre Dame formation.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By Eddie Brietz

NEW YORK, Oct. 11.—(AP)—Charley Keller will be among the first four hitters in baseball next year for any amount you want. . . . Ed Frayne, who has quit the 20th Century Sporting club and returned to California, may promote boxing in Los Angeles with Mike Jacobs' blessing. . . . Judge W. G. Bramham, the minor league czar, lost his brother (Mason C. Bramham of Newburgh, N. Y.) the day before the world's series opened. . . . They say the wildest ride in the world is the 78-mile dash from a Tulane afternoon game in New Orleans to a L. S. U. night game in Baton Rouge.

There is an epidemic of bloody noses on the campus of San Diego State college. . . . Reason: Lee Ramage, the heavyweight fighter, has enrolled as a freshman and has been handed the job of boxing coach.

The Yankee double-play combination of Joe Gordon and Frank Crosetti will get lots of footage in the new American league film Lew Fonseca is shooting. . . . Lew says it's the best double-play duo he's seen since Roger Peckinpaugh and Stanley Harris were in their prime at Washington. . . . There are three sets of brothers in this year's Nebraska squad—Bob and Royal Kahler, Sam and Ed Schwartzkopf and Ray and Jerome Prochaska. . . . New York U. scouts report North Carolina is tougher than in four years. . . . What's become of Mike Jacobs' plan to stage fights in the Boston Garden?

Harold Scherwitz, San Antonio (Tex.) Light: "Front page headlines scream: 'Latvia Signs with Reds.' . . . All we hope is he can hit."

The magazine, Ring, accepted authority on boxing, will say in its next issue that contrary to the opinion of Referee Benny Leonard and a Washington judge, Harry Jeffra was the winner of that featherweight title match with Joey Archibald 10 days ago. . . . Tom Swope of the Cincinnati Post, has a stiff neck from taking bows for the way he handled the press at the world's series. . . . Niftiest arrangements since 1936 when this bureau began bouncing about. . . . Plans are afoot to have Jack Dempsey and Joe Louis demonstrate their favorite blows against each other for the movies. . . . Pat Comiskey is being groomed for a winter bout here with Johnny Paychek.

The other day East High school of Green Bay, Wis., won its 32nd football game in a row. . . . It's a new Wisconsin record, but what they want to know out there is how far they've got to go to beat the national high school mark. . . . Best one we can find is 39 straight and still going at Ord, Neb., High. . . . If you know a better streak drop us a line, for it looks like East High is going on winning forever.

Lou Little Nurses The Columbia Lion To Victory

With Players Scarce, He Keeps Strict Watch Over Precious Few

By Whitney Martin

NEW YORK, Oct. 11.—(AP)—He lets them pick their own neckties, but otherwise Lou Little takes care of about everything in the lives of his football players. It is this meticulous attention to detail which enables Columbia, with possibly the poorest material of any large school, to play a big time schedule with at least average success year in and year out.

A mother hen clucking over her chicks is the only rival in solicitude to this suave, polished No. 1 lion who, with his gentle, bedside manner, could pass a family physician.

Oddly enough, both sides of his nature bring an identical response from those with whom he comes in contact. He runs the legs off his football players—and they'd do anything for him. He makes a soft-spoken banquet speech—and his listeners would let him borrow their wallets.

Football writers who make trips with the Columbia squad can tell you story after story of Little's almost fanatic attention to detail; of how he will go into a dining car and peer into each bowl of oatmeal before he will let the players eat; of how he counts the bubbles in the soup.

They will tell you of that Rose Bowl game in 1934, when a supposed-to-be so-so Columbia team was chosen to meet Stanford with resulting indignant wails from numerous other sectors.

They will tell you how, on the morning of the game, after a heavy rain, Little had his assistants galloping up and down the field until their tongues hung out, trying to determine the best type of cleat to use in the soft sod.

The result of that game—an astounding upset as Columbia defeated the Stanford powerhouse, 7 to 0—probably was more than a little due to that morning exercise, which was just another incident in Little's detailed life.

The Columbia mentor is frankness itself in discussing his team. For instance, he was describing a scrimmage the Lions had with Penn in addressing a recent meeting of football writers.

"They're better than we are," he admitted. "They had the ball on our three-yard line when they were stopped by a clap of thunder. After the weather had cleared a little we started again—giving them the ball on the 25-yard line. That was our biggest gain."

He was asked if Penn scored.

"Yes, they scored a touchdown," he admitted.

"Well, no, more than one," he conceded.

Columbia possibly is the largest school in the country from an enrollment standpoint, but there are so many graduate students, and so many of the others have no time for anything but study, that the number of candidates for the football team, as well as the quality, could be matched by many a so-called minor college.

"Sometimes it's a little thin," he said, "so I have to do what newspaper men do when you have to write a couple of columns with only a little material. I have to pad it out a little."

CHALLEDON SETS MARK

LEXINGTON, Ky., Oct. 11.—(AP)—Challedon set a new American track record Tuesday in winning the Tranter purse, mile and three sixteenths, opening day feature at Kenneland. His time was 1.54 3-5. W. L. Brann's 3-year-old, ridden by George Woolf, defeated a five-horse field in taking the $5,000 event. Hash was second and Chief Onaway third.

RAYVILLE '11' WANTS OPPONENT FOR FRIDAY

RAYVILLE, La., Oct. 11.—(Special)—The Rayville High school Hornets, playing football in the Class A conference, are seeking a game for Friday of this weeke, Coach Don Darling has announced.

The Hornets will tackle any high school team in any class, it was stated, but they are especially anxious to have the game played in Rayville.

THREE NEVILLE REGULARS LAME

Tigers Crippled For Farmerville Invasion Tomorrow Night At Brown Field

The Neville High school Tigers, who meet the Farmerville Farmers here tomorrow in their second Class A conference battle, will go into action with three crippled linemen, Coach Percy Brown said last night.

The injured Bengals were listed as Russell "Tinker" Simpson, end, Carlton McKeithen, guard, and Gus Petterson, tackle, all members of the regular lineup.

Simpson joined the casualty lineup after suffering a knee injury in yesterday's scrimmage. McKeithen is out with a slightly sprained ankle; and Petterson has been out since last Thursday when he suffered a dislocated shoulder in the Mangham game.

Allen Meredith is handling Simpson's job at the right wing; Louis Ladart, just about as good as Petterson, is filling in at tackle; and H. L. Cavaness is slated to take McKeithen's place at guard.

With these exceptions the Bengal squad is in good condition, Coach Brown stated, and the backfield combine of Guy Miller, "Red" Rivers, Jasper Hadad and John Luffey has been looking especially good this week in practice.

In 1932, the last time a Neville team played Farmerville, the Bengals won, 26 to 0, and the locals are anticipating another triumph in their renewed rivalry. Farmerville's last victory over a city school team was in 1929 when the Farmers trimmed the old Monroe City High school Tigers, 53 to 0.

Coach Brown put his charges through a long scrimmage yesterday on both offense and defense, and tapered off with sessions of punting, passing, blocking and tackling. A light signal drill is scheduled for today.

GREENIES GET NEW PLAYS FOR FORDHAM

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 11.—(AP)—Coach Lowell Dawson taught his Tulane Greenies some new plays Tuesday to try Saturday against Fordham if the Tulane power attack breaks on the mighty Fordham line.

In a passing drill the varsity completed many heaves against the freshmen and successfully rebuffed frosh attempts to use Fordham pass formations. There was no real scrimmage.

Bill Kirchem, tackle injured in the Auburn game, spent the afternoon having his legs baked and was reported much improved. Carl Dailey, guard, and Emmanuel De Fraites, end, also among the season's casualties, jogged around the field. All possibly will be ready to play part of the game Saturday.

SOUTHEASTERN INJURIES HURT SEVERAL TEAMS

Vanderbilt And Tulane Stars Among Those Suffering Disabilities

(By Associated Press)

The season in full swing, player injuries have begun to crop up to set Southeastern conference coaches and trainers pulling their hair.

A check of reports from training quarters showed Tuesday that at least seven principal players in the circuit were suffering disabilities.

Felix Jackson, first string back of the Vanderbilt Commodores, injured his back Saturday in the struggle with Kentucky's Wildcats. He'll be out for a month—maybe for the season. Certainly he won't be able to assist against V. M. I. Saturday.

Mississippi's prepping for Centenary must get along without Merle Hapes. Halfback Hapes tore some knee ligaments in the game with Southwestern. Coach Harry Mehre arranged to scrimmage Tuesday with Romeo Popp in Hape's spot.

Captain Sam Bartholomew of the Tennessee Volunteers suffered injury to an arm nerve in the Sewanee game, but was expected to be ready for the University of Chattanooga Saturday.

Bob Aderholt, standout lineman for Georgia Tech against Notre Dame, will be out of the Howard battle. An Irish maneuver took his left hand for a fracture.

Bill Kirchem's bunged up knee was some bother to the Tulane Greenies, who may have to get along without Bill's nifty tackling in their Fordham fracas.

At Florida, the 'Gators found Guard Mush Battista and Center Bill Robinson in a state of near-collapse from their efforts to stop Mississippi State's Maroons. The boys were popped into the infirmary, but got out in time to entrain late Tuesday for Boston with the squad.

Winston Hodgson, Georgia Bulldog left guard, was lost to the squad. No football injury, but an accident with a shotgun caused it. Hodgson had two toes torn from his right foot when the gun discharged.

But that was not all the worry Coach Wallace Butts had. Training discipline cost him Tackle Albert DeCharleroy and Reserves Joe Whelan and Rupert Blount, reported smoking.

On the brighter side, Mississippi State was at full strength; Auburn had nothing but bruises; Alabama Tidesmen were able to workout together.

MRS. ROOSEVELT NOTES BIRTHDAY

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11.—(P)—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt had a birthday anniversary today—her fifty-fifth—but the busy first lady's activities went on as usual.

Two of her four sons, James and Elliott, "just happened" to be in town on business, Mrs. Roosevelt explained, and hence could see her cut a birthday cake with 21 candles, "the maximum at family parties."

Otherwise there was nothing in the way of celebration. Three diplomatic wives were coming to call. Madame Vegrova, a [illegible] of the wife of Czecho-Slovakia's late President Masaryk was to be received. A White House luncheon was to honor Madame Peter, wife of the retiring Swiss minister.

NEW YORK STOCKS

By Victor Eubank

NEW YORK, Oct. 11.—(AP)—With aircrafts in the lead some selected shares worked higher in today's stock market, in which price changes were generally narrow.

The opening was quiet and business was never very active. With a turnover approximating 550,000 shares it was the slowest session since the "war boom" started more than a month ago.

NEW YORK, Oct. 11.—(AP)—Stock market prices pushed a little higher as a rule, today, although a good many minus signs appeared in the list.

Proceedings were quiet from the opening gong. Near the fourth hour leaders' gains were mostly measured in fractions.

Brokers said their clients were cautious about commitments because of tomorrow's holiday and the forthcoming speech of Prime Minister Chamberlain before the British house of commons.

NEVILLE STUDENTS AID THRIFT CLUB

Since the Thrift club at Neville High school has been organized for the current year, it has received an excellent response from both students and teachers. The home room, with the largest deposit the first week, was the senior home room. Each senior deposited at the rate of an average of 40 cents each. The second week after the fund was reopened, Mr. Ruple's room led with a deposit of $46.91, which is at the rate of an average of 70 cents.

Bookkeepers chosen to carry on the work of this club have shown their efficiency by their promptness and accuracy.

A project of the senior home room is to deposit regularly each week amounts which, at the close of the term, will pay for all graduation expenses. Freshmen, sophomores and juniors also have worthy goals in mind for the disposal of their savings.

COMMERCE NOW POPULAR STUDY

One-Fourth Of All Junior College Students Thus Enrolled

The courses offered by the commerce department at Northeast Junior college are popular this year, as indicated by the enrollment. Approximately 145 students, or one-fourth of the entire college registration, are enrolled in the three commerce courses that are being given. In addition, several students from other fields of work, are electing one or more commerce subjects.

J. T. Johnson, head of the commerce department, states that the commerce courses are specially advantageous to all students interested in some phase of the business field since the student may qualify himself for work by the end of his two-year course, and also his credits are acceptable at other colleges toward a four-year course.

Who Was Your First Friend?

Wasn't he the kindly doctor, who ushered you into the world? Then came others... parents who taught you love, ethics and honesty...youngsters who showed you how to play with teamwork and sportsmanship ...and teachers who guided you to work with a purpose. As you journey through life, you learn to appreciate the value of friends. Today, when you count your assets, experience tells you that the most priceless of all are your friendships.

Do you know of any better place to sow the seeds of friendship than in the atmosphere of your home? Do you know of any finer symbol of hospitality than Budweiser? Making friends is what made Budweiser the Perfect Host.

Live Life... Every golden minute of it ...Enjoy Budweiser Every golden drop of it

WE MAKE THIS RAINFALL TEST: Budweiser must be uniform. That calls for uniform ingredients. Even water—not too hard—not too soft. So, every day we check the water supply, and follow it up with constant tests and treatment to insure Budweiser's uniform goodness.

YOU MAKE THIS TEST: Drink Budweiser for five days. On the sixth day try to drink a sweet beer. You will want Budweiser's flavor thereafter.
